

Air University's Strategy for Disabled Students

All of Air University's students, including those with impairments, are guaranteed equal access to educational opportunities and a welcoming environment. The inclusiveness policy of the institution ensures that impaired students can pursue their academic and personal objectives with dignity and assurance.

Accessibility and Accommodations: By making sure that its campus, buildings, and classrooms are made to accommodate those with mobility issues, Air University prioritises physical accessibility. To accommodate the various needs of disabled students, the institution also provides a variety of accommodations, including accessible instructional materials, assistive technologies, and flexible examination procedures.
